DELIVERING POSITIVE CHANGE

WOMEN IN STEM

KNOWLEDGE SHARING EVENT

An opportunity to meet positive female role models working to transform some of the misconceptions that the public, young girls, their teachers and parents have about who becomes a Scientist, Technologist, Engineer or Mathematician.

Our Mission: To inspire girls and women to study and build careers using Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM)

The aim is to get 1 million more women in the UK STEM workforce. Working together we can boost the talent pool from the classroom to the boardroom and drive economic growth.

Women in STEM is not a gender issue or an equality & diversity issue but an issue affecting the economic prosperity of our country.

In 2015 14.4% of the STEM workforce was female in the UK.
